

Workshop Summary

The goal of the workshop is to help the teachers deconstruct conspiracy theories found online by their pupils. The workshop will tackle the issues of conspiracy theories through the angle of the risks and consequences and especially about hate speech and discrimination. Using material from theories found online, this session will allow participant to experiment hands-on the functioning of Internet and define their own posture, and the tools to help them. Conspiracy theories can be the answer to many different questions, and lead to a variety of paths. The workshop will identify the element that can lead to hate and violence. And they may not be the one we think.
