Nazi camps and killing centres

Sweeping away a preconceived idea, nazi camps are not a tool conceived into an extermination goal. Getting accurate words is fundamental to know how specific is the Holocaust with killing centers. Questioning the terminology, this historical lecture would try to give some knowledge about the key dates and the stages of the concentrationary system and the turning point of killing centers during the middle and late 1941. Studying the perpetrators, the territories and the victims will be necessary to understand which is from the repressive policies and/or the Holocaust.
