Biography:

Milan Koljanin

Milan Koljanin, PhD (1953), Senior Research Fellow in the Institute for Contemporary History (ret.), Trg Nikole Pašića 11, 11 000 Belgrade, Serbia, e-mail: office@isi.co.rs Tel. home: 00381113596188, mob.00381641184472; e-mail: mbkoljanin@gmail.com

He was born in Belgrade, graduated his studies at the Department for History of the Belgrade Faculty of Philosophy. He furthered his academic studies at the same Faculty. In 1991 he obtained his MA title with his paper “The German Camp at the Belgrade Fairground 1941-1944-a contribution to the study of the ‘New Order’ in Serbia”. He obtained his PhD title in 2006 with doctoral dissertation “Jews and anti-Semitism in Kingdom of Yugoslavia 1918-1941”.

His scientific research work is centered on the study of specific social groups, such as students and refugees, the feats of repressive systems in World War Two in Yugoslavia, especially the erection and functioning of the system of camps, the repressive legislature of the Independent State of Croatia, the Holocaust in Serbia and Yugoslavia, systemizing and using of historical sources regarding the Holocaust in Yugoslavia, especially in Serbia, the use of film as a means of propaganda, using of anti-Semitic stereotypes in propaganda in Serbia, the history of the Jews and anti-Semitism in the Kingdom of Yugoslavia.